The HWWI wins FocusEconomics Analyst Forecast Award 2020 for Germany

(Hamburg, May 15, 2020) The Hamburg Institute of International Economics (HWWI) is the winner of the “FocusEconomics Analyst Forecast Award 2020 for Germany”, a price awarded by the FocusEconomics.

#1 BEST OVERALL FORECASTER - GERMANY

The Spain-based leading provider of economic analysis and forecasts, FocusEconomics, has announced Hamburg Institute of International Economics (HWWI) as the recipient of its Forecast Award for Germany in 2020. Measured against world’s most renowned international banks and economic research organizations, the HWWI has been recognized for the most accurate forecasters for the main macroeconomic indicators in Germany for calendar year 2019.

To identify the best forecasters, the FocusEconomics analyzes forecasts submitted to their monthly survey over the course of 22 months.

“We’re honored to earn this recognition from the FocusEconomics. This award underlines our excellent scientific expertise. The accuracy of our macroeconomic forecasts for German economy, is vital to politicians and public in identifying current dynamics, seizing growth opportunities and navigating through risks”, said Jörg Hinze and Prof. Dr. Henning Vöpel, business cycle analysts and researchers at HWWI.
